N. E. Towns Recovering From Worst Storm Of Season

LOWELL SWEEP BY HEAVY RAIN AND ELECTRICAL STORMS

Barns in Kenwood and North Chelmsford Struck by Lightning—Cows and Horses Burned—Constant Illumination of the Sky by Lightning—City Escapes Damage—Electric Light and Telephone Wires Slightly Affected

Property was destroyed and the city as well as surrounding towns were swept by a heavy rain last night, when electrical storms played over this section of the river valley for several hours.

Twelve cows, two horses, tons of hay and grain and farming implements were destroyed when lightning struck a barn in the Kenwood section of Dracut, and a barn on Cornhill road, North Chelmsford, was burned to the ground as the result of a lightning bolt. In Acton, a large barn in the rear of the village store was struck and destroyed.

The city seemed to escape actual damage, although at the very height of the storm, fire broke out in the rear of an empty tenement at 573 Market street and necessitated a bell alarm from Box 123, Market and Hanover streets.

Just after sunset the western sky flashed out storm warnings, although at that hour the heavens were clear overhead. The storm worked cityward, however, and before 10 o'clock it began to rain. From that time on, rain continued to fall.

NEW YORK CENTRAL OPENS PEACE NEGOTIATIONS WITH SHOPMEN

Action Follows Settlements With Conductors and Trainmen—16 Reads Sign Separate Agreements With Unions Through Methods in Vogue Before Creation of R. R. Labor Board

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Officials of the New York Central lines and the six shop craft unions went into conference today to seek a settlement of the strike on the basis of the plan adopted by the policy committee of the union.

The conference was the first effort made by an eastern road to settle the strike on the new basis. If it is successful, the lines of the company in other sections of the country will be also affected.

ROADS SIGN PACT

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Sixteen railroads had signed separate agreements with various labor unions today through methods in vogue before the United States Railroad Labor board was created as arbiter of disputes between railroads and their employees.

These settlements, however, according to Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the board, do not repudiate the board, but rather are "entirely in accord with the transportation act." His comment referred to yesterday's agreement between the New York Central lines and the train service "brotherhoods," and other pending peace negotiations.

Following settlements with the order of railway conductors and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the New York Central lines opened negotiations today with the shop crafts on the basis of the Warfield-Willard-Jewell plan. Separate agreements with "engineers," firemen's and switchmen's unions were in prospect, according to officials.

The Pennsylvania system was party to similar negotiations with rail unions at Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

Agreements on wages and rules with newly created shop unions are announced by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, which had turned down the offer.

Britain Appeals to Powers to Join in Effective Defense of Neutral Zones Near Constantinople

Estimates of Number Killed Vary—One Report Declares Victims Number 120,000—Greater Part of Smyrna in Ruins—Flames Reach Waterfront—Where Quays Are Crowded With Fear-Crazed Refugees—Whole Country-side Devastated—British Plea for Mercy Ignored

LONDON, Sept. 16. (By the Associated Press).—The British government, addressing Rumania, Jugoslavia and Greece is asking their participation in an effective defense of the neutral zones near Constantinople. It was learned officially today.

Great Britain also has invited her dominions to be represented by contingents in the defense of those interests for which they have already made enormous sacrifices. It was also authoritatively stated.

ESTIMATES OF VICTIMS VARY

LONDON, Sept. 16.—(By the Associated Press) Succeeding despatches from Constantinople, Athens and other centers of information in the Near East only tend to magnify the tale of the tragedy in Smyrna.

The greater part of the city is in ruins and the flames, according to the latest account, had reached the waterfront where the quays were crowded with fear-crazed Christian refugees who fled to the city as the nearest port of escape from the Turks.

Estimates of the number killed vary greatly, and the latest Athens despatch quotes an American relief worker as declaring that up to Thursday morning

Most Severe Electrical Storm of Season Swept New England Last Night

Many Farm Buildings in Ruins, Churches Damaged, Crops Destroyed

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—Communities in Massachusetts and northern New England today were repairing damage done during the night by the most severe electrical storm of the season.

PRIMARY RECOUNTS TO BEGIN MONDAY

Two petitions for recounts as a result of the primaries have been filed with the elections commission. They are in the interest of Adolph Berard, who sought the republican nomination as a representative from the 15th district and Patrick F. Nesbitt, who sought the democratic nomination as a representative from the 14th district. Yesterday at 5 o'clock, the time expired for the filing of recounts.

The Berard recount will be held at 10 o'clock on Monday and the Nesbitt recount as soon as the first one is completed. It is expected that the recounts will take quite a bit of time as in the 15th district, which takes in wards 3, 6, 7 and 8, about 6000 votes were cast. In the 14th district, which embraces wards 1, 2 and 9, a little more than 5500 votes were cast.

ROACH BRINGS SUIT AGAINST MACBRAYNE

Andrew F. Roach has entered an action of contract against Winfred C. MacBrayne for the sum of $1000 in damages. It is expected that the suit will be tried in the district court this morning. James H. Gilbride, Esq., is acting for Mr. Roach.

The declaration states that the defendant owes the plaintiff the sum of $500 for money loaned by the plaintiff to the defendant. The money is said to have been loaned in $50 amounts and covers a period of ten weeks. The first loan was made on July 3, 1920, and continued through to Sept. 4 of the same year.

The condition of Mrs. Annie O'Connor, who was taken to St. John's hospital last night suffering from a dose of sulphur-phenol, is still serious today. Her name is still on the dangerous list, according to a report from the hospital this morning.

Mrs. O'Connor has been living with her husband and son at 255 East Main street since the family moved here from New Hampshire a short time ago. Shortly after 9 o'clock the woman was found in a serious condition by members of her family. Drs. John McNamara and Fred Donahue were summoned and ordered her moved to the hospital. It is said that she has been despondent since coming here from New Hampshire.

SOLDIERS' BONUS BILL NOW BEFORE HARDING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The soldiers' bonus bill, in congress in one form or another for three years, finally was today before President Harding.

The president's attitude toward it still was the one big question in the minds of both friends and foes. His decision was expected early next week.

In the usual course the first action of the executive would be to refer the measure to the treasury department for an opinion.

Secretary Mellon's attitude is well known. He has opposed such legislation largely on the ground that the federal treasury was in no condition to stand further drains upon it.

Should Mr. Harding send the bonus bill to congress, an effort would be made to override his veto.

SOME TIME THIS JOB WILL BE FINISHED

Central bridge will be open to vehicular traffic by the end of next week, if the present plans of the street department to lay a surface on the roadway next week materialize.

According to City Engineer Kearney, the work of laying a bituminous surface will be commenced early next week and work will be rushed to finish the job before next Saturday. At the present time, the roadway is blocked and vehicles are forced to use the far-tracks in passing back and forth across the structure.

Women first appeared on the bridge in the latter part of the seventeenth century.

FORD CLOSING HUGE INDUSTRY

Takes Action as Protest Against Paying Exorbitant Prices for Steel

Means That 100,000 Men Will Be Made Idle for an Indefinite Period

DETROIT, Sept. 16.—(By the Associated Press).—As a protest against paying what he believes to be exorbitant prices for coal and steel, Henry Ford today began the process of closing up his huge industry.

With the suspension complete when the last shift of workers leaves the various factories tonight, approximately 100,000 men will have been rendered idle for an indefinite period. The plants affected include the five factories in the Detroit area and numerous assembling stations throughout the country. Other concerns, the output of which goes chiefly to the Ford company, also are expected to suspend operations.

In announcing the contemplated closing several weeks ago, Mr. Ford declared no coal shortage, that workers were holding enough coal to supply the needs of the country and that the public was being "gouged" by the dealers. He also criticized government agencies for their methods of apportioning coal.

The past week brought some improvement in the fuel situation, Ford officials asserted yesterday but this, they said, did not warrant a change in the suspension order.

HARD COAL ON WAY TO DISTRIBUTING POINTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The Lehigh Valley railroad announced today that 35,223 tons of anthracite coal from mines along its route were started on the way to distributing points yesterday, as compared with 40,351 tons one year ago.

Since the strike settlement, 111,205 tons have been forwarded, the announcement added.

POLICE LOCATE SUBTERRANEAN DISTILLERY IN GORHAM STREET

Jacob Luz Arraigned in District Court on Charge of Illegal Keeping—Police Had to Break Down Concrete Doors to Gain Admittance to Underground Hooch Plant

Jacob Luz, who was arrested yesterday afternoon by members of the liquor squad in the subterranean distillery located in the cellar of his house at 1222 Gorham street, was arraigned in district court this morning on the charge of illegal keeping. At the request of the government disposition of the case was deferred to September 27 and the defendant was ordered to recognize in the sum of $300.

The distillery was hidden behind the complete protection of two solid concrete doors and walls of the same material and was in full operation when the liquor squad swooped down on the premises yesterday afternoon. After a session with sledge hammers and crow bars, the liquor officers, accompanied by a federal officer, were able to break through the doors and secure plenty of evidence in the form of redistilled spirits.

The building in which the distillery was located, of the tenement and garage type situated near the old Fair

MEN FINED IN LIQUOR CASES ARE WARNED BY COURT

Judge Pickman Says He Has No Sympathy For Men Who Sell Poison That Kills Not Only Men's and Women's Bodies, But Also Their Souls

With the statement that he would much prefer to give a direct jail sentence, Associate Justice Pickman this morning fined Lucien A. Paradis, Philip Jacques, and Joseph Berube $100 apiece for violations of the Volstead prohibition law. The first two were convicted of illegal keeping while the other was found guilty of illegal sale.

The judge warned each man that another conviction would mean a direct sentence. He said he had no sympathy whatsoever for able bodied men who were selling poison that killed not only men's and women's bodies, but also their souls.

In the case of Paradis, the arresting officers testified that they found five 1/4-quarts of moonshine and 10 1/2-quarts of beer cleverly hidden behind the sheathing of the wall.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY

Constantinacos Gets House of Correction Sentence—Others Discharged

In the second session of the district court, held this morning before Judge Enright, Nicholas Constantinacos was found guilty on the charge of assault and battery on Owen Nerney in the Plaza lunch in Merrimack square on the night of Aug. 12 and was sentenced to one year in the house of correction. He appealed the sentence. The other men, George Stobolakov, Peter Apostolus, and George Smernios, who were brought in as co-defendants were discharged by the court.

The trial of this case was interrupted last Thursday when Stobolakov was arrested on another charge as he was leaving the witness stand. Today he said that the party went into the lunch room and that Nerney grabbed Constantinacos and punched him and knocked him down. He said that the other men took the injured man to the kitchen where they washed his face and then they adjourned to the cellar and armed themselves with attacks of wood so as to protect themselves on the way out.

He said that he didn't want a club and started out in a different aisle from that in which Nerney was sitting. On the way out, he said, Constantinacos was in the way and he was with the stick of wood. Peter Apostolus and George Smernios told the same story when called to the stand.

Constantinacos, in his own defense, stated that he was at the counter when Nerney made an insulting remark to him in the face, knocking him down. The other men carried him to the kitchen to wash his face but it was necessary to go to the cellar as the cook would not allow them in the kitchen. On their exit they all came out the farther aisle and kept away from the table at which Nerney was seated. He said, however, that he approached the table and hit Nerney with the stick, because he thought Nerney was preparing to hit him.

Tony Roman, a cook in the Plaza, said he was looking through the side and saw the men going out in a bunch and that then he saw Constantinacos jump on Nerney and hit him several times.

The court found Constantinacos guilty and discharged the other three men.

GEN. EDWARDS SINGS SWAN SONG AT DEVENS

CAMP DEVENS, Sept. 15.—"Boys, this is my swan song. Some of you, many of you, I'll never see again in this world. Good-by, boys! God bless you! Good-by!"

This was General Edwards' farewell last night to the regulars at Camp Devens, some of whom fought under him on the fields of France, and all of whom love and revere him as their corps commander and friend.

Orders have been issued transferring the 6000 regulars here to Westwood, stations throughout New England, and within a few hours the big cantonment will be deserted except for a few caretakers.

Last Review

With all the impressive pomp and ceremony of a great military spectacle, Colonel Farrand Sayre, the camp commander, with his officers and men, staged a review this afternoon in honor of their commanding general, the last he will receive, as his retirement order is effective Dec. 1.

Mrs. Edwards accompanied the general, and she was as deeply affected as he was. "It makes me very sad," she said, "to think that my husband will soon be out of all this. I love it. I love the soldiers, the military life, the very atmosphere of an army camp. We both love Boston and Massachusetts, and all New England. We intend to keep our home in Westwood. We haven't made any definite plans for the future after the general has been retired. I shall be glad to have him with me all the time, but I fear we'll both be unhappy when he takes off his uniform for the last time."

The Camp Devens regulars are to be quartered in permanent stations during the winter months and next summer will come back to assist in the training of the Organized Reserves, the National Guard and the citizen soldiers in the military training camps.

Portsmouth and New Bedford are to have large detachments. General Edwards announced, and he said that he will spend the winter in Boston, the first time in years that such an outfit has been stationed there.

Great Demonstration

Some of the troops will march over the road to their stations in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts and thousands will have a chance to see them.

After the review General Edwards ordered all the troops to come close to the reviewing stand. The officers brought them up in military formation. "Close up!" shouted the general. "Never mind military formations. Close up just as if you were civilians. Just as if you were here."

Praises His Soldiers

"You soldiers of the regular army," said General Edwards, "have done a great deal for this country. I express in some measure my commendation of your service this summer. I don't know that in my 43 years' service I have ever assembled regulars for this purpose before. For some reason it has been regarded as a disgrace to have a regular. When he does well it is taken for granted, and when he doesn't he gets called down."

"The aid you gave us demonstration troops in the instruction of the reserve officers, the National Guard and the citizen soldiers, I wish to thank you for. We are all one army now, so if a little truthful praise is good for the citizen soldier it's equally good for the soldier citizen. I wish to the Lord God you could be in the locality where you are stationed, then we would begin to get somewhere."

"When we take the livery of silence and the veil of poverty in this man's army we can't express ourselves at the best. We are all one army now. But we are to have a different role from now on. We're demonstration troops. Wherever you see a soldier, officer or enlisted man, he must remember that his manner, his dress, his every act must tell the story. It may make the people say: 'Those are our troops.'"

The following orders were then issued:

To Boston, 18th Infantry, provision of history of the 18th Infantry, Fort Constitution, Portsmouth, N. H., one company of 10th Infantry, headquarters troop of 15th Infantry, to Portland Harbor, Me., 5th Infantry, to Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., 1st Battalion of the 7th Field Artillery and Troop A of the 2nd Cavalry, to Fort Rodman, New Bedford, a tank company and one company of the 13th Infantry, to Fort Dupont, Delaware, an engineer training company, to West Point, a detachment of an engineer training company.

All the troops ordered to New England posts will march over the roads, the other troops will go by rail.

N. Y. Central Negotiates

Warfield-Willard Negotiates

Today brought a full in the government's injunction proceedings. Attorney General Daugherty and his aides pushed their case on the strength of 60 affidavits supporting charges of violence, intimidation and destruction of property and attacks on the life of the president.

Federal Judge Wilkinson called for an investigation of remarks attributed to Mr. Jewell commencing upon the strike and published three days after the restraining order went into effect.

Meanwhile, the Turkish forces in the north have continued their advance, and almost simultaneously with the news of their capture of Papirama, on the Sea of Marmara, comes the announcement that the British fleet in the Dardanelles has been ordered to prevent any attempt to cross the Straits and that no ships shall be allowed to concentrate for the purpose of transferring troops in a movement toward Thrace.

Associated Press.)—The beginning of the end of all the labor troubles that have from time to time beset the transportation lines of the nation for the past several years was believed by many railway heads and union chiefs to have come yesterday when the New York Central and the Pennsylvania system began negotiations toward a similar settlement for the like conference here next week between brotherhood leaders and six other big Eastern carriers under way last night.

By yesterday's agreement the various roads making up the New York Central system agreed to continue for one year, beginning September 1, the present wage scale and working rules for their trainmen and conductors and to withdraw from the railroad labor board their request, made more than a year ago, for a downward revision of wages and the elimination of time and a half pay for overtime.

The New York Central gave out a statement indicating that it would soon call into conference the leaders of the engineers and conductors in the hope of ending the strike that began July 1.

W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, announced here last night that at a conference in Pittsburgh yesterday, the Pennsylvania had agreed to continue its present wages to all four brotherhoods, but in later dispatch from Pittsburgh said this announcement was regarded there as premature, since the conference with the engineers and conductors would continue today, while those with the trainmen and firemen had not yet begun.

Brotherhood leaders associated here said, however, they understood the Pennsylvania would follow the lead of the New York Central.

TURKS IGNORE PLEA FOR MERCY

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—British headquarters announced that Field Marshal Viscount French, Earl of Ypres, is expected to arrive here shortly.

Reports were current here yesterday that the allied warships were bombarding Smyrna, but investigation proved that the cannonading was the work of the Kemalists' coast batteries which were attacking the remainder of the Greek forces evacuating the Chios Peninsula.

The British authorities appealed to the Turkish officers to come firing at the retreating troops were no longer combatants but helpless refugees, and the Turkish action, they declared, was in violation of the dictates of humanity and international law.

The Kemalists, however, ignored the British plea for mercy, and the Greek vessels retired under heavy fire with many wounded.

ENORMOUS PROPERTY LOSS AT SMYRNA

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The commercial loss in Smyrna as a result of the great fire is enormous, all reports agree, and talk to a great extent upon foreign shores. Apparently the whole trading quarter was consumed with its immense stores of goods.

Members of British firms engaged in the Levantine trade say the results will be calamitous to them, while numbers of prosperous Greeks and Armenian traders fear ruin.

The chief chamber of commerce, told the Daily Express that more than 40,000,000 pounds of British capital was sunk in Smyrna and the surrounding district.

It is believed a number of London insurance offices also stand to lose severely.

CELEBRATIONS IN ASIA MINOR

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Hallowed celebrations were held throughout Asia Minor yesterday, to mark the sweeping Turkish victory over the Greeks. Friday is the Turkish Sunday, and the entire muslim population ceased its wonted pursuits and repaired to the mosques to offer prayers of thanksgiving to Allah.

For the first time since 1453, when the Turks captured Constantinople the sultan went to the tomb of Mohammed, the conqueror, in Stambul, and paid homage to the memory of his illustrious predecessor. Several miles of exulting and jubilant Turkish flags lined the streets and watched the sovereign pass. He made the trip in an American limousine.

The Americans who attended the ceremony in Stambul observed that the sultan, although thin and slightly bent, appeared alert and vigorous. He exhibited the group of American visitors pleasantly as he emerged from prayer.

A wave of enthusiasm has swept over the Turks and upon every hand one hears the declaration that the Christians must be driven out and the ancient glory of the capital reestablished.

Later yesterday afternoon the sultan's guard, 300 strong, mounted on black chargers and carrying triumphant banners, clattered through the city, and for a time the nervous Greeks thought them the advance guard of the Kemalists army.

grounds on Gorham street. This busy vineyard has been raided twice previously and one arrest made for this same offense. Yesterday afternoon when the officers burst into the secret cellar they arrested a man who gave the name of Jacob Luz and his age as 21 when booked at the police station later.

Armed with a search warrant, Sgt. Winn, Officers J. F. Lynch, Aldrich, Killey, Moloney, Trudel, Noye, Dwyer, Moore and Federal Officer J. Walter Howers conducted the raid on the house. When the men entered a woman saw them and ran toward the cellar giving warning in some foreign language. The officers rushed after her through a tunnel about six feet long and a yard wide. At the end of this passageway the officers found another cement door blocking their way. This second door was of tougher material than the first as it took the raiders much longer to batter their way through. The officers worked and topped, however, as they could hear the man on the inside muddily pouring out the evidence which they were so eager to obtain. An splash after splash echoed through the tunnel one of the officers called and asked the man what he was doing and he received the answer from the man that he was taking a bath.

After hard work the police finally made a small hole in the door. Here the men, seeing that the officers were sure to get in, released the bar that was holding the second door up and party swept in and gathered up all evidence. To a degree the officers believed the man when he said that he was taking a bath as the temperature registered 128 degrees but they admitted it must have been a Turkish bath. In the subterranean chamber the officers found a 150-gallon still, two eight-burner gas stoves, and other apparatus necessary to the business. A conclusive evidence they also gathered in about 150 gallons of moonshine.

The officers say that members of the family told the second door up and party swept in and gathered up all evidence. To a degree the officers believed the man when he said that he was taking a bath as the temperature registered 128 degrees but they admitted it must have been a Turkish bath. In the subterranean chamber the officers found a 150-gallon still, two eight-burner gas stoves, and other apparatus necessary to the business. AMUNDSEN'S SCHOONER MAUD DOOMED

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 15.—Captain Amundsen's schooner Maud, in which he set out from this city last June on an expedition to the North Pole, is sure to be crushed in the ice pack off Wrangell Island, where Captain Amundsen left her, in the opinion of Captain E. T. McIntyre, who for eighteen years has navigated the Arctic coast and has just returned here from East Cape, Siberia.

"I can't believe," said Captain McIntyre, "that Amundsen will attempt to fly over the North Pole this season." Captain McIntyre declared that Captain Amundsen's schooner, the Maud, and his crew would be lucky if they got back to land.

"In my opinion," he said, "the Maud is doomed. Her bottom is constructed so that the ice will lift her up. Very good, but no matter what her construction when those huge hummocks begin closing in on her sides, she's going to crush."

"If Captain Amundsen should attempt to fly across the Pole this season, that would be the end of him and his pilot."

"He's at Wainwright now, and he'll have 1200 miles to fly before reaching the pole. The Arctic ocean is full of ice-hummocky ice—that wouldn't permit a landing anywhere."

WOMEN MISSIONARIES IN SMYRNA SAFE

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—All women missionaries in Smyrna with the exception of Mrs. Alexander MacLachlan, wife of the president of the International college are safe in Athens, the American board of commissioners for Foreign Missions was informed in a cablegram received here today from the Greek city. The missionary men were still in Smyrna, the message said. Mrs. MacLachlan is believed to have remained with her husband.

The despatch, which was signed by Miss Annie L. Finney, a teacher of the American women's college named the following as having arrived at Athens:

The families of Cass Arthur Reed, Rev. Caleb W. Lawrence, of Melrose; J. K. Birge of Bristol, Conn., and the Rev. Samuel L. Caldwell of Northfield, Mass.; Miss Annie B. Mills of Iowa; Miss Emily H. McCallum, principal of the women's college; Miss Gertrude C. Grobe of Massachusetts; Miss Sara H. Snell of Brooklyn, Miss Helen Craig of California and Miss Savage of Newburyport.

JUSTICE HALL ORDERS PARALYZED IN GAMECOCKS EXECUTED

WORCESTER, Sept. 15.—Chief Justice Walter Perley Hall established a new record in court procedure of Massachusetts yesterday when he ordered 53 executions inside of 24 hours. The scene of the executions is the headquarters of the state police patrol in Framingham and the victims are 63 gamecocks that have won a lot of money for the devotees of cock fighting in Central Massachusetts.

The birds were seized in a raid on the grounds of "Al" Jones in Millbury several months ago. There were 59 of them then, but in spite of the care given them by the state police, six have died.

Jones was convicted in superior court yesterday after a jury trial of illegally keeping gamecocks. Judge Hall fined him $200. The court then ordered the execution of the birds.

The poultry will be turned over to Sheriff Albert E. Richardson, which means that some of the inmates of the Worcester county jail are to have a "bird dinner" on Sunday.

Lowell Swept by Heavy Rain

Continued

After midnight, storms played over the city and suburban towns with the fiercest fury. Heavy thunder accompanied vivid lightning flashes and the rain increased to cloudburst proportions.

The display of lightning that marked the storm as one of the worst in years. Every known species—forked, chain and sheet—zigzagged across the sky and seemed to flash from the clouds in every direction. Flash after flash made some sections of the city as light as day and this lurid light continued for more than an hour.

At 11:30 o'clock a terrific bolt of lightning struck the slaughter house of Joseph Volok on Stewart avenue, in the Fenway. Heavy rain was immediately setting it on fire. The crash and the blaze which followed could be heard and seen for miles around. The fire spread rapidly and aroused, it was plainly evident that the property was doomed. Despite the efforts of a hundred volunteer firemen, the house was completely destroyed.

The barn burned in North Chelmsford was owned by Joseph Brule. It was situated on Cornhill road, about 24 miles from the city. Before town fire apparatus could be summoned it was completely destroyed.

Electric light and telephone wires were affected somewhat throughout the city, but not seriously, and main currents were not curtailed.

KEEPS DIGESTION SOUND AND BOWELS REGULAR BY TAKING "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

DE NOVA, COLORADO.

I have just come here from Vancouver, B. C., and I have been taking your wonderful fruit medicine, "Fruit-a-tives" for two years. No other medicine answered my requirements like yours.

Nine years ago I was in an accident and the lower portion of my bowels are paralyzed; therefore, I need a medicine that does not lose its effect and I have been absolutely satisfied with "Fruit-a-tives" since I began taking them.

MRS. C. C. REMINGTON.

Now you might think that any medicine which is strong enough to move the bowels when they are paralyzed would be too powerful to be used by a person suffering with ordinary Constipation. Yet "Fruit-a-tives" is regularly taken by children, young boys and girls, men and women of all ages, without pain, griping or other ill-effects. Because "Fruit-a-tives" is a genuine fruit medicine, made from the juices of fruit, and gains its peculiar power to cure Constipation because of this fact.

RIGHTS OF ACCIDENT BOARD ARE DEFINED

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—The full bench of the supreme court in an opinion written by Chief Justice Rugg, sustaining the Industrial Accident board in its decision that John Johnson, a blacksmith, injured in 1917, when in the employ of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation, was entitled to more compensation. He received certain compensation, went back to work, and then had to take less wages than he previously received.

The chief justice comments on the form of the decree of the superior court. He says: "The decree entered in the superior court was entered in decision of the Industrial Accident board under date of April 27, 1922, was affirmed. That is wrong. The Industrial Accident board cannot enforce its own orders. The Workmen's Compensation act of necessity provides that the decisions of the board can be enforced by appropriate proceedings in court. It is only in that way that such decisions can be enforced."

Radio Best Known by Its Kin

Know radio by its relatives. That mysterious procession of waves by which sounds may be heard from a distance loses its atmosphere of vagueness and mystery when introduced alongside its well-known brothers—light and heat. In the same family, but not so well known, are violet rays, X-rays, and the baby of all gamma rays—these given out by radium. It was not discovered until quite recently that these phenomena were members of the same family. All of these, say scientists, are waves in the ether—electromagnetic waves, similar to those studied in a still pool when a pebble is thrown into it.

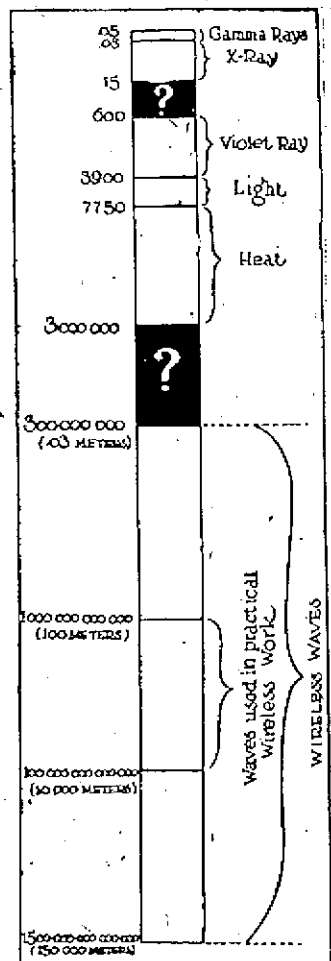

Sizes Vary
But, like members of human families, these waves differ in size. The largest is the radio wave. That, measured from crest to crest, ranges from 12 inches to more than 98 miles! Of course, there are different sized radio waves, like various sized elder brothers in different families. The most common of these are the waves ranging from 100 meters to 10,000 meters. Those of the 93-mile length, or 150,000 meters, are only conjectured. Marconi, recently reported having received an impulse from a radio wave which he estimated to be 150,000 meters long. Outside of his report, nothing is known of this giant.

At the other extreme in the radio brotherhood is the 13-inch wave, the smallest scientists have so far been able to measure. Ranging down the line from these midsize radio waves come the heat, light, violet-ray, X-ray and gamma-ray waves. They become so tiny that scientists have had to devise a special method of denoting their measure. Meters and fractions of meters are too cumbersome. So the meter has been divided into ten billion parts, each of which is called an Angstrom unit, after the man who invented the system.

In Angstrom units, therefore, the smallest radio wave of 12 inches, or three-hundredths of a meter, is 300,000,000 units long. From this it is easier to comprehend the size of the smaller brothers.

Thus, scientists have measured heat waves to range from 3,000,000 down to 7750 units. Light waves measure between this and 3000 units. Then come violet rays, down to 800 units. And so on down to the tiniest of all—the gamma rays, measuring one-twentieth of an Angstrom unit, or one ten-billionth of a meter!

Lost Brothers
Two brothers in this marvelous family of wireless waves are missing. Scientists are still searching for them.

THE WAVE FAMILY SHOWING THEIR RELATIONSHIPS.

The only identification they can give is their sizes. One of these missing brothers stands between the smallest radio wave and the largest heat wave. The other's place is between the smallest violet-ray wave and the largest X-ray wave. What they are, or what functions they might have in the general scheme of things, scientists have still to discover.

OSCILLOGRAPH WILL MAKE RADIO VISIBLE

Will we be able to see radio? That is not impossible, according to

PROF. D. C. MILLER

Professor Dayton C. Miller of the Case School of Applied Sciences in Cleveland. In fact, says Miller, an instrument could easily be devised by which the smallest and largest waves may be caught and photographed as they flash by at the rate of 186,000 miles a second. Professor Miller has been working on a machine which photographs sound waves. It is called an oscillograph. The sound sent into an extremely sensitive receiver is made to vibrate a needle of light whose oscillations are photographed as they form.

Along the same manner, it is believed, the radio waves may be converted into sound waves which in turn can be photographed by his oscillograph.

CHILDREN TERRORIZED

Bolt Hits Church—Panic Prevented Among 500 Little Ones by Sisters

HAVERHILL, Sept. 15.—Five hundred boys and girls, between the ages of 10 and 12 years, preparing for confirmation rites, were thrown in a panic yesterday afternoon and aroused to a frenzy of fear when a bolt of lightning struck the spire of St. Joseph's church, in whose basement the children were being tutored by the sisters attached to the church.

Quickly sensing the seriousness of the situation, as the children screamed in fright and terror and dashed for the doors, the 12 sisters, in charge of the 200 boys and 300 girls, at once took command of all the exits and by their quick show of disciplinary power stemmed the rush of the children for the outdoors.

Holding command of the doors and going among the children, the sisters, by their calm deportment and reassuring words, calmed the children and soon were able to resume the course of the religious study that had been broken by the crash of the lightning bolt upon the church's high spire.

But order had not been resumed, however, until after one of the confirmation class, more bold and adventurous than the others, had seen the doors barred, jumped to a window and opening it, leaped to the ground five feet below. He rushed over the church grounds and then realizing that none of the other children was following him meekly returned to the class.

The damage to the spire was inconsiderable and none in the church basement suffered other than a nervous upset.

The lightning bolt that struck the church was the first one of three that crashed within an area of about 200 yards in quick one, two, three order. The second bolt crashed into the Chase building at 25 Washington square, doing but little damage.

The third one hit the Central fire station and came in contact with the electrical installation fire alarm system. It filled the air with sparks, and for some time the smel and acrid smoke and singing sound, "Zing, Zing" were in evidence about the place. For a time the fire alarm system was out of order. The storm was the most violent of the season.

NOT BREAD

BY BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH, Of Columbia University
For the children's lunch box, or for a luncheon bread at home, there is nothing better to serve once or twice a week than a good nut bread. The following is a good recipe for nut bread which does not crumble and keeps moist as long as there is any left.

With marmalade between the slices it is a satisfying sandwich:
2 cups entire wheat flour
1 cup bread flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup molasses

1 1/2 cups milk and water
1 cup walnut meats cut in thin slices
Measure flour after sifting once, then sift again with remaining dry ingredients. Mix molasses, milk and water and combine with flour.
Thoroughly mix, beat well, add nuts and turn into a well greased bread pan. Let stand for one hour—then bake two hours in a moderate oven.

CHANGEABLE VELVET
Changeable velvet makes some of the most charming millinery creations of the season. Frequently it is trimmed with a smashing ribbon bow.

CARACUL
Caracul in black and in dyed shades is very popular for banding gowns and cloth coats, as well as for short sport coats, belted with cords and tassels.

SMART COATS
Very straight, slender looking coats of black broadcloth have wide sleeves and wide crush collars, heavily embroidered in silver braid.

New Guinea has an area equal to that of France and the British Isles combined.

SOUSA'S BAND CONCERTS

Programs for Afternoon and Evening in High School Auditorium Sept. 19

All arrangements have been completed for the afternoon and evening concerts by Sousa's band in the high school auditorium on Tuesday, Sept. 19. At the matinee performance Lieutenant Commander Sousa will introduce a musical novelty, the title of which is "Showing Off Before Company," wherein the members of the band will illustrate different instances of "showing off" in a variety of ways. The stage is entirely vacant. The first section that appears is the clarinet section playing the ballad music from "Sylvia"; this is followed by the other sections of the band doing individual stunts, many of them very funny, the whole resolving itself into a fascinating musical vaudeville. The various instruments and their part in the ensemble will be described by Mr. Clarence Russell, formerly superintendent of schools at Pittsfield, Mass., and now librarian with Sousa's band. Mr. Russell will explain to the audience the relative merits of the different instruments and will give the names of the same, as there are many instruments in Sousa's band that are not seen in ordinary bands. The concert will be a valuable educational feature.

Quarter Century Ago

From the old Sun:

"Like old wine, the age of the Middlesex North fair enhances its value. This, its 42d year, saw an opening day that eclipsed from all standpoints any and all of its predecessors. 'It was an ideal fair day, though perhaps a trifle threatening to the unsophisticated city chap, and the farmers of Middlesex North, their families and friends turned out in goodly numbers to one of the finest attractions in the bright history of the old fair. There must have been over 5000 present yesterday afternoon, and were you in the grand stand you'd believe there must have been twice that number, for the stand was packed all day. From the time that one Mr. Sidney 'Big Boy' Gidday, as he was called, entered the fair grounds, he met it again upon making his exit, there was something interesting to be seen and enjoyed.' That was the opening paragraph of a long account of the old Middlesex North fair, an event that was great annual attraction in years gone by. It was always held at the Fair grounds, but the sale of the grounds and the coming of the automobile age helped to discourage those who conducted the fair. But the Middlesex North society still lives and the Lowell public would be glad to see this annual fair revised as an annual attraction."

25 Years Wed

"Miss Anna Gertrude Gillespie and Mr. Owen A. Gidday, two young people having a large circle of friends in Centralville, were united in marriage at 6.30 o'clock Sept. 15 at the parochial residence of St. Michael's church. Rev. James Gidday of Woburn, a brother of the bridegroom, officiated."

Heat Prostrations

About this time 25 years ago there was a hot spell during which there were several heat prostrations as indicated by the following from The Sun of that time:

"There were two more prostrations from the heat yesterday afternoon. In the afternoon about 5 o'clock a man named James Couture, employed at the Parker block in Middle street, was prostrated and taken to St. John's hospital in the ambulance."

"Thomas Collins, a callman of the Hesse & company, was also overcome by the heat in the afternoon and carried home. He was not seriously affected."

"Following is the report of Mr. F. E. Saunders of Lowell weather conditions for Friday: Barometer, 6 a. m., 30.03; 6 p. m., 29.98; mean, 30. Temperature, 6 a. m., 69; 2 p. m., 85.5; mean, 63.7; range, 29.5; relative humidity, 75; absolute humidity, range per cubic foot, 7.558."

"The temperature of 85 is not often exceeded during the heat of summer."

Tribute to Rev. Dr. Court

The admirers of the Rev. Dr. Court, of the First Presbyterian church, joined in a mass meeting of sympathy for him as he was then quite ill. One of the speakers was Rev. J. M. Greene, pastor of the Elliot church, who paid the tribute to the learned and popular clergyman.

"That the venerable Dr. Court, Lowell's foremost Presbyterian minister, and one of her most accomplished scholars, is dearly loved and highly esteemed by his fellow citizens of all creeds and colors was evidenced last evening by the size of the audience that attended the testimonial tendered him in Huntington hall, under the auspices of the I. O. O. F., and I. O. G. T., and other fraternal organizations."

"He has read and digested everything that pertains to theology, philosophy, morals and general literature. As a conversationalist, Coleridge was not his superior. As an essayist, his learning, wit and polished education remind you of Addison or Steele. His wit sparkles but never stings. His sermons to his congregation are always fresh, sound and able, not a whit behind in biblical scholarship and theological lore, those of the chief masters on this or the other side of the Atlantic."

"It is eminently fitting that we, the recipients of his intellectual, moral and spiritual gifts, should assemble here tonight, not only to express sympathy for him and his dear wife in their bereavement, but to declare our admiration for him as a patriotic, self-sacrificing citizen, and our respect and esteem for him as a Christian man and a gospel minister. We are not unmindful of the services he has rendered our city, the church and the world."

Dr. Court passed away soon after, lamented by all who knew him as a typical Scotchman, but yet a true American."

Miners Shut Down

From the old Sun:

"The shooting down of 67 from 30 to 50 of the coal strikers at Hazelton, Pa., on Friday, was one of the worst outrages ever committed by legal authority in this country. It was simply a massacre of men who had committed no violation of the laws; it was a cold blooded murder for which Sheriff Martin and his 100 deputies should be held strictly to account. It is the natural outcome of the holding of numerous meetings of government by injunction, which was so needlessly and outrageously used to restrain the miners at every point."

"The injunction restraining the strikers from approaching any of the mines on the public highways; an injunction restraining them from holding public meetings in the vicinity of the mines; and an injunction restraining them from speaking to the miners who remained at work."

"The strikers, in turn, were restrained by the law. It was wonderful that they maintained such order and such obedience to the law."

"It was reported that a body of miners was proceeding to attack the Hazelton mine. The sheriff and his deputies went to meet them on a public highway and ordered them to go back. They hesitated and refused to obey the sheriff's order, whereupon he ordered his men to fire and over thirty fell and over twenty died within a few hours."

TARIFF BILL BACK IN THE SENATE TODAY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Finally approved by the house, 210 to 90, the administration bill became again today the unfinished business of the senate. Republican leaders expected final legislative action—senate adoption of the conference reports—before the end of next week.

Democratic opponents planned to attempt to get the bill back to conference for amendment, particularly of the sections granting broad authority to the president over the tariff rates and classifications.

Texas, the greatest pecan nut producing area in the world, has about one-third yield this year.

BROTHER OF A. W. WILSON

APPROVES MURDERS

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 15.—Eugene Wilson, brother of Adelbert W. Wilson, the Higginsville general store keeper who Thursday shot and killed his wife and mother-in-law and then attempted to end his own life, was taken into custody yesterday by Sheriff Fernandez after he had expressed approval of his brother's act.

"I will do more than my brother did before another day is ended. Adelbert did just right and he ought to have done it before," Eugene Wilson is said to have declared to neighbors. Sheriff Fernandez at once brought the man to the state hospital here for observation as to his sanity.

Behind Thursday's double tragedy is a story of the unhappy culmination of a marriage of a girl to a man old enough to have been her father. Wilson, who is 49, married 16-year-old Nellie Darling of Hudson ten years ago. There were four children in the family. Mrs. Wilson died of cancer. The mother of the girl, came to the Wilson home to aid her daughter in caring for the children.

Of late years Wilson is said to have become increasingly jealous of the attentions paid by customers in the store to the young and pretty and young wife. During the past week neighbors reported that there had been several noisy quarrels at the home.

It is said that the fatal shooting was precipitated when Mrs. Wilson told her husband that she had telephoned for the sheriff to have him arrested. In anger Wilson is alleged to have seized an army revolver, shot and killed his wife and mother-in-law with one shot each and then rushed into the store where he told his eldest son and a neighbor what he had done.

He then returned to the house and fired a bullet into his own breast. Neighbors feared to enter the house and Sheriff Fernandez was called. Wilson was conveyed under guard to the Eastern Maine General hospital here where doctors say he has a chance for recovery.

DEPUTY HARRINGTON OUSTED BY NICHOLS

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—Arthur Harrington of Charlestown, former state senator, was removed from his position as deputy collector of internal revenue yesterday by Collector Malcolm B. Nichols.

Harrington was one of the most active supporters of Congressman Peter F. Tague in the recent contest in the 10th district. Since the Tuesday primaries, Thomas H. Green of Charlestown, defeated by Tague for the nomination, contested the election, and Harrington's name has been brought into allegations by Green men in connection with the shortage of ballots and their transfer from one polling place in Charlestown to another.

Harrington's friends said last night that the removal of Harrington was because of these charges by Green men.

When the matter of Harrington's removal was put up to Collector Nichols last night, the collector said:

"The part played by Mr. Harrington in this congressional contest, so far as I know about it, was of less importance to me than the fact that he is and has been for years extremely active in the democratic party and that I intend to give the position he has held to a member of that party. As long ago as September of 1921, I asked for Mr. Harrington's resignation, but did not press the matter because of a desire to allow him to adjust matters under the situation."

"There was nothing personal about my asking for his resignation. I renewed the request for his resignation today and when he declined to give it I removed him. I shall appoint a republican to succeed him."

STORROW RESIGNS AS STATE FUEL HEAD

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—The resignation of James J. Storrow as chairman of the governor's advisory fuel committee was announced yesterday afternoon by Gov. Cox. The governor further stated that James J. Felan had been appointed chairman to succeed Mr. Storrow.

A statement from the governor's office says:

"Mr. Storrow has retired from the fuel committee because he is chairman of the governor's committee on a plan for grouping the New England railroads. The Interstate Commerce commission has given notice of its intention to hold hearings in New England in the near future. Mr. Storrow should devote practically all of his time to the work of preparing for such hearings."

"The committee will continue its efforts to secure a fair and equitable distribution of fuel, and to make its distribution equitable and to restrain prices."

MISS MURIEL M'CORMICK OPENS MILLINERY SHOP

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Miss Muriel McCormick, granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller, and hardly past 20, opened a millinery shop today, half block from her elevatorless third-floor flat.

She started in business and moved into her own private quarters at the same time, having stated repeatedly that she wishes to make her way without dependence on the fame or fortune of her father, Harold McCormick, chairman of the board of the International Harvester Co., or her famous grandfather.

Her declaration of independence, however, related more specifically to her musical and grand opera aspirations, than her modest business enterprise. She announced she expected to spend part of every day at her shop, and devote the rest of her time to her musical education.

GEN. McMAHON CHIEF OF STAFF

DUBLIN, Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press) Major General John McMahon has been named chief of staff of the Free State army. He succeeds Richard Mulcahy, who since Nicholas Collins' death has held the combined posts of minister of defense, chief of staff, and commander-in-chief of the national army.

SUMMER COLDS THAT HANG ON

APPROVES MURDERS

—When a cold stubbornly resists the ordinary methods of treatment, and one cold rapidly succeeds another after each change of temperature, it is time to take a tonic that will strengthen the blood and give it the qualities necessary to fight off disease. There is such a tonic, as is shown by the experience of Mr. Joseph L. Pullen of No. 127 West Seneca street, Oswego, N. Y., who says:

"I found that my system was so badly run down that I was seldom without a cold. In my work as a writer I was exposed to severe weather and every little change brought on a cold. Colds were rapidly absorbing my strength. I was tired all the time and lacking in ambition and energy. I had very little appetite and what I ate didn't seem to help me. I suffered from heartburn and indigestion and had a pain in my back. My father had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they had helped him so much that I decided to give the remedy a trial. I felt some relief after the first box and continued the treatment. In a few weeks I felt more active and energetic and soon my strength returned. I have a good appetite now and no longer have indigestion. The pain in my back is gone. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills built me up so that I no longer catch cold easily. The remedy is an excellent tonic and I do not hesitate to recommend it."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills give strength and vigor because they build up the blood and revitalize the nerves. They are recommended in anemia, nervousness, neuralgia and sciatica, and are useful in toning up the system run down by indigestion. Get six-cent box from your druggist today and give them a trial.

A booklet, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent free on request to any reader of this paper. Write now to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for your copy.—Adv.

DUCKS CHASE ROOSTERS AFTER TANKING UP

PITTSFIELD, Sept. 15.—State detective Thomas E. Eligh of this city, with four members of the state police patrol, made raids in the mountainous section of Hinsdale and Peru yesterday and cleaned out what they believe was a source of supply for bootleggers throughout the Hinsdale-Washington-Peru section. They arrested Fred Gross of Peru and confiscated a 25-gallon still, located in the heart of a backwoods valley on an abandoned road in the depths of the mountains. The officers destroyed five barrels of mash, a barrel of molasses and a box of raisins. While waiting for a motor truck to cart the still away, they discovered a barrel of hard cider in the dooryard, which they opened and let flow into a duck pond. In a short time the ducks were there and about to get the ducks chasing roosters, seeking battle.

On the Middlefield road, in Hinsdale, they arrested Raymond Watkins and the next house, George Bookings, on charges of illegal sale and keeping of liquor and maintaining a liquor nuisance. It is alleged they were bootlegging the liquor. Gross is said to have been making it.

CENTRALVILLE M. E. CHURCH OBSERVANCE

The 35th anniversary celebration program at the Centralville M. E. church had an auspicious beginning last evening with a "welcome home" reception that was largely attended, an address by Rev. M. S. Tasker of Portsmouth, N. H., former pastor, and informal speaking by several members of the congregation and guests.

The chief speaker declared that the Protestant church of today is falling "because it isn't loyal to its service as it ought to be. Many congregations the pastor said, 'are calling the hosts out of their pastors by letting them preach to empty pews.' He drew a contrast between the Catholics and Protestants in the matter of church attendance, calling attention to the fact that great throngs of the former seek attend church at early hours every Sunday, while it is difficult to get Protestants to attend services that are held late in the forenoon. He called for a powerful revival in Protestant churches.

Besides this address, there was an enjoyable musical program. Rev. Karl P. Meister, pastor, gave the invocation, and Rev. William Hamden, second pastor of the church, said the opening prayer. The choir sang several inspiring hymns.

The Sunday program will be as follows: 9.30 o'clock, Love Feast, led by Rev. William Hamden, 10.30, Rev. William Bronson, "Up You Need the Church," 12 noon, Sunday school, A. L. Hiner, superintendent; 5.30, Epworth League; 6.30, musical and address by Rev. George H. Spencer, former secretary of the Massachusetts Biblical Society.

On Tuesday at 7.45 p. m. there will be a musical and an address by Rev. H. H. Crane, pastor of the Malden Centre M. E. church. On Wednesday at 8 o'clock in the evening there will be a social under the auspices of the Epworth League. At this affair all present will be attired in costumes indicative of the month in which they were born.

On Friday at 8 p. m. there will be a stereopticon lecture by Rev. Karl P. Meister on "Man, God's Partner." Next Sunday the concluding exercises will be held with a communion and reception of members. A sermon by Rev. C. H. Spaulding, district superintendent, and a pageant in the evening called "The City Beautiful."

The celebration is being materially assisted by Ernest Ingle, director of music; Sarah Lavergne, soloist; J. P. Ward Leith, organist, and Genevieve Townsend, pianist director. Following are the committee in charge: Russell Fox, chairman; Sadie Munson, secretary; Charles B. Garmon, treasurer; J. P. Hiler, Mrs. D. A. Munson, J. P. Garmon, Mrs. J. M. Gilman, Charles Gill, William Chivall, Mrs. A. E. Swapp and Karl P. Meister, pastor.

WEATHER SAGE PREDICTS LONG, COLD WINTER

KANE, Pa., Sept. 15.—"Dill" Altman, weather sage, hunter and trapper, who lives alone in a wild section near Westline, 18 miles from this city, and who foretold a cold spring and summer, has issued his prognostication on the coming winter.

Altman says that the winter season of 1922-23 will be a long one and that heavy snows and long spells of intensely cold weather will predominate. Later, he states, he will foretell the periods when storms will prevail and also give the dates during which extremely low temperatures may be expected.

Altman's prophecy early this year, that the late spring and early summer would be among the coldest on record, was so, near to facts, that the

CERTIFICATE SHOWS DE VALERA BORN IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Controversy over the birthplace of Eamon De Valera, raised between reference authorities, was settled yesterday with the discovery of the birth certificate of the Irish leader in the files of the New York board of health. He is registered as having been born here in 1882 of an Irish mother and Spanish father. The new edition of the Encyclopedia

Britannica states that De Valera was born in Ireland.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Mrs. Charles E. Wheelwright, mother of Eamon De Valera, yesterday laughed heartily when informed that the Encyclopedia Britannica had listed her son's birthplace as Ireland and not the United States. "All I can say," Mrs. Wheelwright remarked, "is that Eamon's friends will have a good laugh on the Encyclopedia Britannica."

Mrs. Wheelwright refused to divulge the birthplace of her son. She said as a boy he lived within a stone's throw of the Christian Brothers' college, which he later attended. She was reticent concerning her own life, refusing to say whether she married the father of the famous Irishman in Ireland or the United States.

CLINTON, Sept. 15.—The Wickwire-Spencer Steel corporation yesterday afternoon announced an adjustment of wages to be effective on Monday. It was stated that the employed would receive an increase. About 700 employees will benefit.

THE MASSACRE AT SMYRNA

Reports from Smyrna indicate that the Turkish nationalists arriving there after the retreat of the Greeks, indulged in a bloody orgy of atrocities on the defenceless Christians followed by the massacre of about 2000 persons and a conflagration, started to cover the atrocious nature of the onslaught upon the Armenians, Greek and even American Christians. It seems to be a strange state of civilization that permits such a cold-blooded massacre without any remorse from England and France. If we are not to have a League of Nations, this occurrence indicates the need of an army of civilization to prevent the cruel and unprovoked massacre of unoffending and defenseless peoples simply through a spirit of revenge by the blood-thirsty Turks.

This occurrence at Smyrna is another proof of the need of stamping out the power of the Turks, but through jealousy among the powers, they are allowed to defeat Greece and perpetrate the frightful atrocities reported from Smyrna.

The forces of Kemal Pasha are now marching toward Constantinople which has been held as neutral territory by the allies. It is the control of the straits that causes the powers to intervene to stop the attack on the city. Here the Turks will be resisted because of what their progress might mean from the territorial aspect; but when it was a mere matter of massacring a few thousand Christians in Smyrna, none of the powers was sufficiently interested to intervene to save the helpless victims.

THE CASE OF WALKER

Joseph Walker has been a decidedly interesting figure in Bay State politics for a good many years. On his last appearance in Lowell before the members of the wide-awake Rotary club, he gave utterance to a powerful plea for a more vigorous participation of the people in national affairs, calling upon men and women alike to study a little more earnestly the real issues of the day and act accordingly.

We presume Mr. Walker, in opposing the distinguished citizen of Nahant for the United States senatorial nomination at Tuesday's primaries, did not expect the electorate to follow his advice. That would have been a miraculous thing indeed at the present time, with so many current events and individual problems harassing voters and candidates alike along roads far apart from those political.

Mr. Walker is not discouraged by his failure to defeat Senator Lodge in the primaries. Indeed, he had eagerly hoped to be nominated over Mr. Lodge. Mr. Walker has fought a good fight, nevertheless. He stands to his guns stoutly, declaring his faith in a more liberal and progressive policy and higher ideals, and also for new leadership in the G.O.P.

The Walker forces appear to be hopelessly defeated for the time being; but the strenuous campaign only just started against the Lodge machine may bear fruit later on in a way that may surprise the gentleman from Nahant and some of the exuberant leaders of the party in Massachusetts who for the time being appear to feel that the primary results on Tuesday have "vindicated" them.

TRYING TO DISCREDIT GASTON

The Boston Transcript and the Boston Herald have apparently set out to discredit the candidacy of Colonel Gaston unless he comes out openly and condemns the candidacy of Joseph C. Pelletier for district attorney of Suffolk county. Colonel Gaston is no more responsible for Mr. Pelletier's irregular and unwarranted course, than is Senator Lodge or any other republican candidate. It is up to Attorney General Allen to deal with Mr. Pelletier as the resources of statutory law will permit. Being a democrat, Col. Gaston does not approve and cannot approve the course pursued by Mr. Pelletier, but it is none of his business to interfere.

The fact that the republican newspapers of Boston resort to this petty effort to discredit Colonel Gaston indicates that they are afraid he will defeat Senator Lodge. But they cannot connect the column with Pelletier nor even make the democratic party responsible for Pelletier's cowardly and erratic course. If Attorney General Allen is unable to deal effectively with an official convicted of malfeasance in office, why should Colonel Gaston be called upon to pass judgment on the case. Mr. Gaston stands for law and order and for regular procedure in politics but he is not in any way responsible for a situation resulting from republican incompetence.

MONEY

Bankers check up and find that $6,037,621 Americans have savings accounts. Better than one for each family. The savings total around $17,000,000,000, which suggests that the proverbial thrift of the French may lag behind ours.

America's savings accounts are twice as much as the total amount of money in circulation, plus all our gold. And more billions are banked in commercial or checking accounts. Apparently each dollar shows up several times as a bank deposit. Frequently we deal with credit when we think we're handling the actual cash.

Every dollar in the country is changing hands seven times a month. Bank clearings in August exceeded $30,000,000,000, or more than seven times as much as the total amount of money in circulation. If you can hang on to a dollar four and a half days, you are doing better than the average.

No Accommodation

In happy anticipation of their approaching annual holiday at the seaside, Kenneth and Joan were playing at "boarding house," with Joan in the role of applicant. "Have you parents?" inquired Kenneth with great stiffness of manner. "Yes, sir, two," replied Joan timidly. "Sorry, ma'am, but we never take children who have parents," said Kenneth; "no accommodations here."

Had Dog's Name

"Who fiddled while Rome burned?" asked the schoolmaster. There was a painful silence; then came a voice: "Hector, sir," "Who not Hector, Hector?" "Towers, sir," "Towers?" "What do you mean?" "Well, if it wasn't Hector or Towers," said the voice, aggrievedly, "it must have been Nero. I know it was somebody with a dog's name."

It Wasn't There

During the performance at a suburban picture theatre the following scene was flashed on the screen during the interval: "Lost between Maple road and this theatre, a nurse concealing $75. Finder rewarded. Amount at once a man went to the booking office. 'It's found,' he said. They brought the manager. 'Have you got it?' he asked. 'O no,' replied the man, 'but I've only just come along that way, and it wasn't there, so it's found!'"

Very Fine Trick

The conjurer was performing in a room adjoining a gunpowder factory. A sailor and his parrot were enjoying the show. The conjurer chucked a half-dollar to a nickel. "Now that's a fine trick," said the sailor, lighting his pipe. "I wonder what he'll do next!" The sailor then threw away his match. A minute later there was no sailor, no factory, no room, no village, no conjurer, a mile away, the parrot, with its feather remaining, said: "Now that's a fine trick. I wonder what he'll do next?"

Today's Word

Today's word is—pusillanimity. It's pronounced—pu-sill-ah-nim-ee-tee, with accent slightly upon the first syllable. It means—weakness of spirit, cowardice, timidity, lack of manly strength and firmness. It comes from a combination of the Latin words "pusillus," meaning "very little," and "animus," "the mind." It is used by the Editorial writers generally to agree that the present situation at Constantinople is due mainly to the pusillanimity of the European governments' policy there.

Time Savers

An American tourist in Yorkshire was very much interested in the "quaint" dialect of that section of England. He stopped to have a chat with an old Yorkshireman, who was busy cleaning his harness in the stable yard. Just then a butterfly settled on the stable door and the American exclaimed: "Pretty, isn't it? Now, what do you call them here?" "The old man made a bet about it with his cap," said the Yorkshireman. "You was a flutterbug," he said solemnly, "but us chaps calls them flugs, to save a bit of time."

Within the Law

"My wife was hit by a trolley and I want to sue the city," said a client. "Well," said the lawyer, "and having his gold-rimmed glasses, 'und down in the Western Union code book, thirty-four Missouri, it is doubtful whether you warrant will file, although it is older on the 'phone.' 'She's all black and blue and hurt,' said the client. "—bitter in the Epstein case," continued the lawyer, "which appears to be a case of the strong dissent by Hatterly J. on the 'phone.' 'The trolley was on the wrong side of the road,' said the client. "The amendments of 1897 limit the application of certiorari to cases involving contracts and causes eluding general. For example, suppose A is seized in fee tail of a messuage with remainder over to B. C enters A's close under color of title not amounting to quare clausum, and seizes B's hereditaments. Quare, does C's entry constitute a trespass?" "You have an excellent case," said the lawyer. "We shall start suit at once." My retainer is $36. Thank you,"—Lila.

TWO INDICTED FOR MURDER IN LAWRENCE

LAWRENCE, Sept. 16.—The grand jury made a partial report yesterday, reporting two murder indictments. They are Anthony Stahatopoulos of Lawrence, charged with killing Charles Danton, a J. of Haverhill, and Vito Caruso of this city, charged with slaying his wife. The latter's brother, Steve Caruso, was indicted on charge of being an accessory before the fact. Antonio Costello of Salem was indicted on 18 counts, charging a statutory crime. He was held for some time in connection with the murder of Henry McMahon of Salem, but this part of the case has been dropped.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

The farmers are beginning to "park" their surplus sold corn on the outside of barn doors out in the country districts. This is always a sign of cooler weather coming, although of course we had an early corn crop this year, which resulted in a heavy shortage of good ears when the demand became heavy. Sweet corn is higher now, and the early varieties have gone. The appearance of the ears of corn on houses and barns in the country, always causes comment on the part of auto travelers, many of whom have no idea what the corn is put there for. These who are still ignorant on this subject, are hereby informed that the best ears are placed in a dry, sunny spot on the side of a shed or barn, where they won't get very wet, to be used for future seed. It is left there for several weeks at a time, in the time that the corn kernels may thoroughly dry and harden—ripen is one word for it. When the seed is toughened and made impervious to all moisture, the best of it is removed and kept in dry containers in houses or barns until the following spring, when the largest kernels are used for planting. Few farmers buy seed when they can raise it, and they prefer their own when proper selections are made.

The campaign material posted in conspicuous places in and about Lowell this year by anxious political candidates, has surprised most of the old-time "pols," who say they "never say anything like it." The influx of huge placards, circus posters, etc., came early, and not a billboard in the city was spared. Evidently, space was hired or virtually taken by some sort of eminent domain on old buildings, sheds, fences and in some instances telegraph and telephone poles. Of course the auto has had its familiar decoration here and there. There have been no pictures and so-called "Ambrose" men tell me, since the days of Gov. Russell, when the state was placarded from the Cape to the Berkshires in wonderful shape. The multitude of candidates for public offices was, of course, responsible for this year's galaxy of pictures and so-called "Ambrose" campaign literature hardly to be placed in the category of the literature in many instances.

I am informed that right after the Willow Dale park outing of the fish and game clubmen next week, Thursday, Sept. 21, there will be a special luncheon served for members and guests who plan to go to Nashua that evening for the entertainment there. This was ordered in order to enable each one to have a "full stomach" before departing across the state line, but will be paid for by all who will need something to eat before the journey begins to Nashua. The cost of the luncheon tickets will be small, I am informed.

Several of the school yards of the city are graded with cinders and sloped to the sides in such a way that when a heavy rain falls the cinders are torn up and carried off in whatever direction the water runs. Every heavy rainfall tears up the cinders in the school yards and leaves it in a condition that is actually dangerous to children. A proper system of drainage would prevent this but no such precaution has been taken. It is evident that cinders do not make a suitable dressing for any school yard. The local school board should be advised in a condition that is actually dangerous to children. A proper system of drainage would prevent this but no such precaution has been taken. GALLI-CURCI'S WONDERFUL VOICE APPEALS TO EVERYBODY

One month after Galli-Curci had sung a recent number for the Victrola, that company announced the sale of 100,000 copies of the record. What does this fact indicate? That the great soprano who will be heard in Lowell at the Memorial Auditorium on October 6 has a very vital message for thousands upon thousands of persons. In fact, the appeal for Galli-Curci is universal. Not only does she thrill the seasoned music-goer but she also moves the person who has never attended a concert before. Who can resist the thrill of the woodland bird, the ravishing note of the lark? To these the limpid quality of Galli-Curci's voice has been likened. It is the voice that weaves a magic spell, the voice that causes multitudes to listen breathlessly, to laugh or to weep, to shout with joy or to remain silent in tranquil enjoyment. It is the voice that is born but once in several decades. The tribute that was paid recently to Galli-Curci by a layman, a man who knows absolutely nothing about music, is indicative of the singer's universal appeal. "As a humble layman, I believe it possible to find terms which will convey to the average person some idea of the beauty which is imprisoned in Galli-Curci's throat," writes

Bob Swayze in the Portland, Oregon, Daily Journal. "Why shouldn't language which adequately describes the loveliness of flowers, the sterner beauty of mountains, the picturesque appeal of cataracts, the tenderness of love, the keenness of grief and the thrill of joy symbolize somewhat our appreciation of this vocal marvel? Nevertheless, it is well-nigh impossible to put in mere words an exact representation of Galli-Curci's genius. Only in relation to and comparison with other things may we approach her towering peak of supreme accomplishment. A heaven that is up and a hell that is down give us mental pictures of two extremes. We use the one as a symbol of perfect bliss, the other as an expression of naked misery. When we say a thing is heavenly we have crowned it with the superlative. Only by calling Galli-Curci's voice heavenly and remembering that the other extreme conveys a contrary idea, we may approximate how she excels in the use of the vocal cords which are our constant ministers. So unusual and so unfamiliar is the sweetness with which she garbs mere speech that we are perforce conured to believe that those tinkling notes are only temporary

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

The Venetian Five, Royal Troubadours, Will Give Poetry, Magic and Song to Next Week's Bill. Special attention is called to the fact that the hours for the Sunday bills at the B. F. Keith theatre have been altered somewhat, and it is believed that audiences will appreciate the change. The afternoon program will go on at 3 o'clock and the evening show will start at 8 o'clock. This should be borne in mind. For the bill this coming Sunday Grace Hayes, the admirable songstress, will be a big attraction, and Smith & Barker in their novel act will also be seen. Then there will be Jones & Jones, rapid-fire talkers; the Autumn Trio, and three brand new acts—the Hungarian duo, Grant and Mack, and Tom Brown. The coming week's bill should cause vaudeville lovers to gloat somewhat over the fare to be presented. The Venetian Five, right from old Italy, as pretty a group of troubadours as the stage has known in a long time, will be seen in their combination of poetry, magic and song. The poetry is contained in their admirable setting and in the costumes, the magic in that elusive quality which goes with all things from Venice. Then there is the delectable song which everybody will care much for.

"Why Be Serious?" It's a fair question, and one which Will Mahoney will put to you numberless times during the week. A whimsy talker. Very funny things, no man knows better how to keep an audience right up to the last notch with wit and witless than does he. He ought to be one of the big laughing hits of the entire season.

And Marshall Montgomery, by many venerated to be the best ventriloquist in the world, is also down on this big bill. His work is always new, always changing, always the last word in the difficult art of ventriloquism. Less known to the king of xylophonists, who has done some remarkable playing with his chosen instruments will give you all touch of the latest and best—fizz tunes, and Mason and Gwynne in their downright good black face turn, "The South of Today," may be depended upon to give first rate entertainment. Bronson & Edwards in pantomime comedy and Sulan, a most remarkable jony, will complete this big bill.

RIALTO THEATRE

"DRYS" MUZZLED ON REFERENDUM

BOSTON Sept. 16.—The "drys" of Massachusetts are warring whether or not the "wets" have put one over on them.

Just now the "drys" are in the position of defenders in the State Yeast act, which was passed by the legislature last Spring and which will be referred to the voters in November. The "wets" have petitioned for a referendum and are seeking to have the people reject the law.

Now both the attackers and the defenders are given a certain number of days in which they may respectively present the secretary of state with arguments for and against the law concerned, which are to be mailed to the voters in connection with the usual notices of laws to be voted upon. But if the attackers of the law do not file an argument, then those defending the bill are not permitted to do so.

A few days ago the forces of the "drys" prepared a very elaborate statement in defense of the law and sent it to Secretary of State Cook. To their utter surprise this had just been returned to them with the notification that "no argument was filed by a majority of the first 10 signers of said petition within the time required by law. I have no authority to give publicity to the argument filed by you and it is hereby returned forthwith."

The first 10 signers of the referendum petition are Charles S. Rackemann, Louis A. Coolidge, Francis R. Baugh, Irvin Mel, Garfield, Frederick C. Shattuck, Rufus B. Dodge, William E. Gilbert, James J. Pielan, Martin T. Joyce and Henry Abraham.

One of these men when questioned yesterday chuckled long and loudly, but professed ignorance of the whole procedure.

Arthur J. Davis, superintendent of the Antislavery league, however was not so reticent and volleyed forth his opinion.

"It seems apparent," he said, "that the sole purpose of the petition for the referendum was to delay the enforcement of an act for whose defeat the petitioners had not one single pretext they cared to make public over their signatures."

SOVIET REPLY TO U. S. NEW I. T. U. LAW ON SYMPATHETIC STRIKES

Ready to Enter Negotiations for Re-establishment of Official Relations

MOSCOW, Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press) A note which is considered a reply to the unofficial inquiry of the United States as to whether an American technical commission would be welcome in Russia states that Soviet Russia "is ready to enter official preliminary negotiations for the re-establishment of official relations, with an American delegation appointed for this purpose."

The note, which was sent by Foreign Minister Tchitcherin to Berlin for delivery to American Ambassador Houghton, suggests that the preliminary negotiations might be held in the United States, in Russia or in some other country, to be determined later. "The Soviet government," the note states, "is particularly interested in any move which might soon bring the re-establishment of economic relations between Russia and America, it being understood that such relations will be based on equality and in the interests of both concerned. The Soviet government heartily welcomes any tendencies in the direction of reciprocity which will enable each country to study the economic condition of the other."

"Owing to the fact that the Soviet government desires closer relations with the United States, it cannot consider exactly just a one-sided proposal for sending an investigating commission to Russia." Such action, the note continues, might be regarded by public opinion as not in conformity with principles of equality and might cause a sentiment unfavorable to the durability of the future relations between the two countries.

"The Soviet government," the note adds, "does not doubt that if the United States, the government of which is sufficiently informed regarding Russian conditions through the American relief administration and other sources, should find it necessary to change its policy toward Russia, it will certainly find some means of guaranteeing equality, and along these lines the Soviets are prepared to do whatever might be considered just and right."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—By the Associated Press) The state department was without advice today from Ambassador Houghton at Berlin, that any communication from the Russian Soviet authorities bearing on the suggested American economic inquiry in Russia had reached him.

State department officials are inclined to view the present text as tentative, but they are not sure. It is certain that nothing further will be done at this time by the American government toward sending such a delegation as was suggested into Russia.

Two men were jolted overboard by the force of the collision and a four foot hole was stove in the vessel's hull.

This controversy arising from a dispute over which organization should install the metal trimmings in new buildings, already has halted millions of dollars' worth of construction in Detroit, Cleveland and other cities, it is asserted.

DIED IN RESCUER'S ARMS

14-Year-Old Boy Saves Girl's Life But Boy Friend Died in His Arms

OAK BLUFFS, Mass., Sept. 15.—Richard H. Lane Jr., 19-year-old son of Richard H. Lane, died yesterday of a heart attack while rescuing a 14-year-old girl who had fallen into the water. The boy was found by a lifeguard and taken to the hospital, where he died in the arms of the rescuer.

The accident happened when Lane was rescuing the girl and was steering with a fresh southwest breeze blowing. The boat jibed, dived and sank. Boxall, a good swimmer, first went to the assistance of Miss Garrette, but finding that she was able to look out for herself, turned his attention to Lane, who was fast becoming helpless. He succeeded in holding his head above water and in the meantime a motorboat came out to the rescue. Miss Garrette, who was in the boat, also kept before the rescue boat arrived. Just before the rescue boat arrived, Lane, who had been in the water for some time, was almost exhausted when taken from the water.

$12,000 TAKEN IN INCOME TAXES

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—The payments on the third installment of the annual income tax closed at midnight last night. All delinquents are to be assessed 5 per cent of their tax as a penalty for not paying on time. Any payment which is postmarked September 15, however, is acceptable, even if it does not reach the office until today.

More than 70,000 payments are expected and the total will be about $2,000,000. It was said by officials of the internal revenue collector's office that the number of delinquents is steadily growing less, and that also the crowds which used to throng the office are diminishing.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Barn and Contents Destroyed By Fire—Firemen Save Historic Buildings

(Special to The Sun) "ACTON, Sept. 16.—Firemen from three villages saved numerous historic buildings, including the Wilde Memorial library after an hour's hard battle when lightning struck a large barn, destroying storage and garage in the rear of Miss E. Taylor's village grocery store on Old Acton common early this morning.

The barn and most of the contents were destroyed with losses estimated at several thousand dollars. Losses in the two valuable driving horses, a Ford automobile, a truck, a covered delivery wagon, several carriages and harnesses, a large quantity of hay and hundreds of dollars' worth of valuable farm implements and merchandise. The insurance was but $1800.

Efforts to save the Taylor store—an old historic landmark more than 100 years old—and two nearby houses, including the Taylor residence, were successful, the firemen being greatly aided by the severe rainstorm that drenched nearby buildings, affording a wet blanket that destroyed many floating embers and sparks.

Hundreds of townspeople were awakened earlier in the evening by one of the most terrific thunder and lightning storms in the memory of oldest inhabitants. The storm was almost continuous from 7:30 p. m. until about midnight, reaching its climax about 11:30 p. m. when it was followed by a spectacular performance by sending several heavy bolts of lightning across Acton common, arousing the neighborhood and bringing many frightened townspeople from their beds.

Five minutes after the multiple bolts began to fall, the Taylor store, located just in the rear of the store in the village, burst into flames. Mr. Taylor, who lives nearby, had been awake watching his property, as he has done during every electrical storm for the past 52 years since he has been in business in the village.

One of the first to discover the flames, which appeared to engulf the entire rear of the large barn. Hastily awakening his nearest neighbors, the alarm was sounded from the village town hall and church bells.

The fire pressure in the Acton village is excellent, and the Centerville company worked alone against the fire for many minutes, giving an excellent performance of up-to-date rural fire-fighting.

As the nearby buildings were thoroughly soaked by the long-continued rain earlier in the evening, the firemen were able to confine the fire to the barn, which was leveled in less than one-half hour.

George Braman, a Massachusetts reformatory officer, occupant of a house near the store and close to the burning barn, was among the first of the villagers to reach the barn, and was tempted to remove the horses, owned by Mr. Taylor and Frank Pratt, the latter a local railroad man residing in the Braman house. Braman threw a bag over the head of the Pratt horse and got the animal out of the stall, but the horse, frightened by the flames, broke away and returned to its stall. Braman ran back to try it again, but the flames surrounded him and drove him from the building.

The officer then ran to the barn cellar and managed to draw out a black automobile that he owns. All other barn property, including a valuable stock of store goods, hardware, farm implements, etc., were destroyed, the flames filling the barn before the villagers could reach the storages.

Large mows filled with many tons of English hay worth $40 a ton, were soon aflame and the firemen could do little but keep water pouring on the burning building and protect nearby property.

Firemen from South and West Acton could not be summoned promptly owing to the burning out of all telephone communication earlier in the evening. Messengers were called in from the different villages, arousing outside firemen and calling for the apparatus. The distance is three miles, but the firemen were on deck in jig time, being equipped with motor apparatus, and assisted materially in taking care of the embers and

Mr. Taylor will build anew, as he requires room for his grocery outfit, which consist of a truck and horse with wagons, all of which were destroyed.

STANDARD TIME AND STRAW HATS

Evidently a great many local people have confused the date for the changing of the clocks back to sun time and the date for discarding straw hats.

During the past few days there have been many arguments upon both subjects. Some people insist that the 15th of the month marked the date for turning back of the clocks. According to the official act of the legislature the clocks will be turned back to standard time on Sunday, October 1. Those who averred that the 15th was the day to officially toss away the summer straw were right.

CRAMPS, PAINS AND BACKACHE

St. Louis Woman Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Louis, Mo.—"I was bothered with cramps and pains every month and had backache and had to go to bed as I could not work. My mother and my whole family always took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for such troubles and they induced me to try it and it has helped me very much. I don't have cramps any more, and I can do my housework all through the month. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends for female troubles."

Mrs. DELLA SCHOLZ, 1412 Salisbury Street, St. Louis, Mo.

Just think for a moment. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been in use for nearly fifty years. It is prepared from medicinal plants, by the utmost pharmaceutical skill, and superior methods. The ingredients thus combined in the Compound correct the conditions which cause such annoying symptoms as had been troubling Mrs. Scholz. The Vegetable Compound exercises a restorative influence of the most desirable character, correcting the trouble in a gentle but efficient manner. This is noted, by the disappearance, one after another, of the disagreeable symptoms.

HEE HAW RIDES WITH THE TWINS

SOON ONLY HE STOOD UP ON HIS HIND LEGS

Nancy and Nick rode away from the Dingle Bell on Hee Haw.

Hee Haw was the donkey the old wizard had given them to ride, so they could hunt for the lost wand of the fairy queen.

But really Hee Haw wasn't a donkey at all. He was Flap-Doodle, the very fairy the twins were searching for,
and who had caused all the mischief.

But Nancy and Nick didn't know that, of course.

BRITAIN READY TO FIGHT

LOWELL SWEEP BY HEAVY RAIN AND ELECTRICAL STORMS

Barns in Kenwood and North Chelmsford Struck by Lightning—Cows and Horses Burned—Constant Illumination of the Sky by Lightning—City Escapes Damage—Electric Light and Telephone Wires Slightly Affected

Property was destroyed and the city as well as surrounding towns were swept by a heavy rain last night when electrical storms played over this section of the river valley for several hours.

Twelve cows, two horses, tons of hay and grain and farming implements were destroyed when lightning struck a barn in the Kenwood section of Kenwood and a barn on Cornhill road, North Chelmsford, was burned to the ground as the result of a lightning bolt. In Acton, a large barn in the rear of the village store was struck and destroyed.

The city seemed to escape actual damage although at the very height of the storm, fire broke out in the rear of an empty tenement at 375 Market street and necessitated a bell alarm from box 123, Market and Hanover streets.

Just after sunset the western sky flashed out storm signals although at that hour the heavens were clear overhead. The storms worked cityward, however, and before 10 o'clock it began to rain from that time on.

NEW YORK CENTRAL OPENS PEACE NEGOTIATIONS WITH SHOPMEN

Action Follows Settlements With Conductors and Trainmen—16 Roads Sign Separate Agreements With Unions Through Methods in Vogue Before Creation of R. R. Labor Board

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Officials of the New York Central lines and the six-shop craft unions went into conference today to seek a settlement of the strike on the basis of the plan adopted by the policy committee of the union.

The conference was the first effort made by an eastern road to settle the strike on the new basis. If it is successful, the lines of the company in other sections of the country will be also affected.

Negotiations Broken Off

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Demand by union leaders that all men taken on during the strike be discharged immediately upon return of strikers to their jobs, was understood to have broken up a conference here today between "Shutout" Railway officials and general shop craft chairmen, designed to bring about a settlement on the basis of the Warfield-Willard-Jewell agreement.

Fall to End Shopmen's Strike

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 15.—Efforts of officials of the Federated Shopmen's craft and the Louisville & Nashville railroad to effect a settlement of the shopmen's strike failed today when the road officials refused to accept the terms of the Warfield-Willard-Jewell plan on the ground that "they would jeopardize the rights of the more than 10,000 workers now employed to fill the places left vacant by the strikers."

Agreement With Penn. Road

CLEVELAND, Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press) An agreement has been reached between General Chairman of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors with officials of the Pennsylvania railroad over wages and working conditions. W. G. Lee, president of the trainmen, announced today upon his return from New York.

Prepared to Use Force to Maintain Freedom of the Dardanelles

Estimates of Number Killed Vary—One Report Declares Victims Number 120,000—Greater Part of Smyrna in Ruins—Flames Reach Waterfront Where Quays Are Crowded With Fear-Crazed Refugees—Whole Country-side Devastated—British Plea for Mercy Ignored

LONDON, Sept. 16 (by the Associated Press).—Great Britain is prepared to fight to maintain the freedom of the Dardanelles, it was authoritatively stated this afternoon.

The statement came at the end of a week of protracted cabinet meetings arising from the Near Eastern crisis, which has given rise to fears that the Turkish nationalists might turn from their success over the Greeks to attack the neutral zones around Constantinople.

With this in mind, Great Britain is reinforcing her troops in Constantinople and has ordered the Mediterranean fleet to keep by every means the infractions of the neutral zone or any attempt by the Turks to cross over to Europe.

Great Britain has also invited Greece, Rumania, Jugo-Slavia and the British dominions to give their assistance in this action if necessary.

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 16.—A cablegram was received today from Miss Jennie M. Christa of this city, a worker with the Near East Relief in Smyrna, announcing her safe arrival in Piraeus, Greece. She went to Turkey in 1919 with a group of American Y.W.C.A. secretaries.

ESTIMATES OF VICTIMS VARY

LONDON, Sept. 16.—(By the Associated Press) Succeeding despatches from Constantinople, Athens and other centers of information in the Near East only tend to magnify the tale of the tragedy in Smyrna.

The greater part of the city is in ruins and the flames, according to the latest account, had reached the waterfront where the quays were crowded with fear-crazed Christian refugees who fled to the city as the nearest port of escape from the Turks.

Estimates of the number killed vary greatly, and the latest Athens despatches give an American relief worker as declaring that up to Thursday morning.

LABOR LEADERS AT END OF SESSION TODAY

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 16.—Confronted by a mass of business, the executive council of the American Federation of Labor hoped to adjourn tonight.

In addition to the adjournment proposed yesterday to limit the powers of the United States supreme court, the labor leaders have drafted one which would give congress the power to prescribe age limits for child labor and another aimed to "make the constitution more elastic to fit the needs of labor."

Labor's policy on immigration restriction, state industrial courts and its attitude toward legislation which would compel unions to incorporate also, was expected to be defined before the end of today's session.

President Samuel Gompers will remain here to attend an important conference with international labor chiefs who have journeyed here to consult him.

BARS SALE OF SECURITIES

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—The state department of public utilities today barred the sale of the securities of the Damiano Tidewater Power company, the Universal Tied Power company, and the Tiesano Hydraulic Power Co. The department found that the sale of the securities was "fraudulent or would result in fraud."

LEOMINSTER, Sept. 16.—Mrs. Alfred E. Karlson died at the Leominster hospital today of injuries received when her automobile turned turtle on the road last night. Mrs. Ralph S. Drury and Mrs. Robert Enholm, who were injured, were expected to recover.

POLICE LOCATE SUBTERRANEAN DISTILLERY IN GORHAM STREET

Jacob Luz Arraigned in District Court on Charge of Illegal Keeping—Police Had to Break Down Concrete Doors to Gain Admittance to Underground Hooch Plant

Jacob Luz, who was arrested yesterday afternoon by members of the liquor squad in the subterranean distillery located in the cellar of his house at 1223 Gorham street, was arraigned in district court this morning on the charge of illegal keeping. At the request of the government dispositive of the case was deferred to September 27 and the defendant was ordered to recognize in the sum of $300.

The distillery was hidden behind concrete doors and walls of the same material and was in full operation when the liquor squad swooped down on the premises yesterday afternoon. After a session with sledge hammers and crow bars, the liquor officers, accompanied by a federal officer, were able to break through the doors and secure plenty of evidence in the form of redistilled spirits.

The building in which the distillery was located is of the tenement and garage type and is near the old Fair garage. Continued to Page Two.

MEN FINED IN LIQUOR CASES ARE WARNED BY COURT

Judge Pickman Says He Has No Sympathy For Men Who Sell Poison That Kills Not Only Men's and Women's Bodies, But Also Their Souls

With the statement that he would much prefer to give a direct jail sentence, Associate Justice Pickman this morning fined Lucien A. Paradis, Philip Jacques, and Joseph Bernabé $100 apiece for violations of the Volstead prohibition law. The first two were convicted of illegal keeping while the other was found guilty of illegal sale.

The judge warned each man that another conviction would mean a direct sentence. He said he had no sympathy whatsoever for able bodied men who were selling poison that killed not only men's and women's bodies, but also their souls.

In the case of Paradis, the arresting officers testified that they found five ¼-quarts of moonshine and 19 ½-quarts of beer cleverly hidden behind the sheathing of the wall.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY TAG DAY FOR THE INDIA RELIEF FUND

Constantinacos Gels House of Correction Sentence—Others Discharged

In the second session of the district court, held this morning before Judge Enright, Nicholas Constantinacos was found guilty on the charge of assault and battery on Owen Nerney in the Plaza lunch in Merrimack square on the night of Aug. 12 and was sentenced to one year in the house of correction. He appealed the sentence. The other men, George Stobolakis, Peter Apostolus, and George Smernikos, who were brought in as co-defendants were discharged by the court.

The trial of this case was interrupted last night when a Sikh was arrested on another charge as he was leaving the witness stand. Today he said that the party went into the lunch room and that Nerney grabbed Constantinacos and punched him and knocked him down. He said that the other men took the Indian man to the kitchen where they wished to see him. The party then adjourned to the cellar and armed themselves with sticks of wood so as to protect themselves on the way out.

He said that he didn't want a club and started out in a different alley from that in which Nerney was arrested. On the way out, he said, Constantinacos hit Nerney over the head with the stick of wood, Peter Apostolus and George Smernikos told the same story when called to the stand.

Constantinacos, in his own defense, stated that he was at the lunch room when Nerney made an insulting remark and hit him in the face, knocking him down. The other men carried him to the kitchen to wash his face but it was necessary to go to the cellar as the cook would not allow them in the kitchen. On their exit they all came out the farther side and kept away from the table at which Nerney was seated. He said, however, that he approached the table and hit Nerney with the stick, because he thought Nerney was preparing to hit him.

Tony Roman, a cook in the Plaza, said he was looking through the slide and saw the men going out in a bunch and that then he saw Constantinacos jump on Nerney and hit him several times.

The court found Constantinacos guilty and discharged the other three men.

Radio Best Known by Its Kin

Know radio by its relatives.

That mysterious procession of waves by which sounds may be heard from a distance loses its atmosphere of vagueness and secrecy when introduced alongside its well-known brothers—light and heat. In the same family, but not so well known, are violet rays, X-rays, and the baby of all gamma rays—those given out by radium. It was not discovered until quite recently that these phenomena were members of the same family. All of these, say scientists, are waves in the ether—electromagnetic waves, similar to those started in a still pool when a pebble is thrown into it.

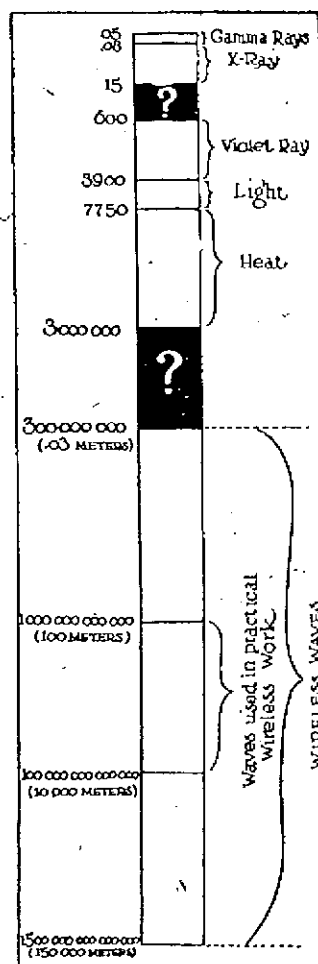

Sizes Vary
But, like members of human families, these waves differ in size. The largest is the radio wave. That, measured from crest to crest, ranges from 12 inches to more than 33 miles! Of course, there are different sized radio waves, like various sized elder brothers in different families. The most common of these are the waves ranging from 100 meters to 10,000 meters. Those of the 93-mile length, or 150,000 meters, are only continental. Marconi, recently reported having received an impulse from a radio wave which he estimated to be 150,000 meters long. Outside of his report, nothing is known of this giant.

At the other extreme in the radio brotherhood is the 12-inch wave, the smallest scientists have so far been able to measure. Ranging down the line from these midjet radio waves come the heat, light, violet-ray, X-ray and gamma-ray waves. They become as tiny as scientists have had to devise a special method of denoting their measurements. Meters and fractions of meters are too cumbersome. So the meter has been divided into ten billion parts, each of which is called an Angstrom unit, after the man who invented the system.

In Angstrom units, therefore, the smallest radio wave of 12 inches, or three-hundredths of a meter, is 300,000,000 units long. From this it is easier to comprehend the size of the smaller brothers.

Thus, scientists have measured heat waves to range from 3,000,000 down to 7750 units. Light waves measure between this and 3000 units. Then come violet rays, down to 600 units. And so on down to the tiniest of all—the gamma rays, measuring one-twentieth of an Angstrom unit, or one ten-billionth of a meter!

Lost Brothers
Two brothers in this marvelous family of wireless waves are missing. Scientists are still searching for them.

THE WAVE FAMILY SHOWING THEIR RELATIONSHIPS.

The only identification they can give is their sizes.
One of these missing brothers stands between the smallest radio wave and the largest heat wave. The other's place is between the smallest violet-ray wave and the largest X-ray wave. What they are, or what functions they might have in the general scheme of things, scientists have still to discover.

OSCILLOGRAPH WILL MAKE RADIO VISIBLE

Will we be able to see radio? That is not impossible, according to

PROF. D. C. MILLER
Professor, Dayton C. Miller of the Case School of Applied Sciences in Cleveland.
In fact, says Miller, an instrument

could easily be devised by which the smallest and largest waves may be caught and photographed as they flash by at the rate of 180,000 miles a second. Professor Miller has been working on a machine which photographs sound waves. It is called an oscillograph. The sound sent into an extremely sensitive receiver is made to vibrate a needle of light whose oscillations are photographed as they form.
Along the same manner it is believed, the radio waves may be converted into sound waves which in turn can be photographed by his oscillograph.

CHILDREN TERRORIZED

Bolt Hits Church—Panic Prevented Among 500 Little Ones by Sisters

Haverhill, Sept. 16.—Five hundred boys and girls, between the ages of 10 and 12 years, preparing for confirmation rites, were thrown in a panic yesterday afternoon and aroused to a frenzy of fear when a bolt of lightning struck the spire of St. Joseph's church, in whose basement the children were being tutored by the sisters attached to the church.

Quickly sensing the seriousness of the situation, as the children screamed in fright and terror and dashed for the doors, the 12 sisters, in charge of the 200 boys and 300 girls, at once took command of all the exits and by their quick show of disciplinary power stemmed the rush of the children for the outdoors.

Holding command of the doors and going among the children, the sisters, by their calm deportment and reassuring words, calmed the children and were able to resume the course of the religious study that had been broken by the crash of the lightning bolt upon the church's high spire. But order had not been resumed, however, until after one of the confirmation class, more bold and adventurous than the others, had, seeing the doors barred, jumped to a window and opening it, leaped to the ground five feet below. He rushed over the church grounds and then realizing that none of the other children was following he meekly returned to the class.

The lightning bolt that struck the church was the first one of three that crashed within an area of about 200 yards in quick succession. The second bolt crashed into the church building at 25 Washington square, doing but little damage. The third one hit the Central fire station and came in contact with the electrical installation fire alarm system. It filled the air with sparks, and for some time the small or acrid smoke and ringing sound, "Zing, Zing" were in evidence about the place. For a time the fire alarm system was out of order. The storm was the most violent of the season.

The questions are, in substance, as follows:
1.—Shall an amendment to the constitution relative to roll calls in the general court on the adoption of preambles of emergency laws, be approved?

2.—Shall a law which provides that any voluntary association composed of five or more persons may sue or be sued in its common name, and that the separate property of any member thereof shall be exempt from the attachment or execution in any such suit, be approved?

exhibit or display publicly in this commonwealth any motion picture film unless such film has been submitted to and approved by the commissioner of public safety, be approved?
4.—Shall a law enacted to enforce in Massachusetts the 18th amendment to the constitution of the United States be approved?
5.—Shall a law, which provides that a district attorney shall be a member of the bar of the commonwealth, be approved?

BY BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH, Of Columbia University
For the children's lunch box, or for a luncheon bread at home, there is nothing better to serve once or twice a week than a good nut bread. The following is a good recipe for nut bread which does not crumble and keeps moist as long as there is any left.
With marmalade between the slices it is a satisfying sandwich:
2 cups entire wheat flour
1 cup bread flour
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon soda
2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup molasses

1 1/2 cups milk and water
1 cup walnut meats cut in thin slices
Measure flour after sifting once, then sift again with remaining dry ingredients. Mix molasses, milk and water and combine with flour.
Thoroughly mix, beat well, add nuts and turn into a well greased bread pan. Let stand for one hour—then bake two hours in a moderate oven.

SOUSA'S BAND CONCERTS

Programs for Afternoon and Evening in High School Auditorium, Sept. 19.

All arrangements have been completed for the afternoon and evening concerts by Sousa's band in the high school auditorium on Tuesday, Sept. 19. At the matinee performance Lieutenant Commander Sousa will introduce a musical novelty, the title of which is "Showing Off Before Company," wherein the members of the band will illustrate different instrumental parts. At the beginning of the second part, the stage is entirely vacant. The first section that appears is the clarinet section playing "The Ragtime Medley." This is followed by the other sections of the band doing individual stunts, many of them very funny, the whole revolving itself into a fascinating musical vaudeville. The various instruments and their parts in the ensemble will be described by Mr. Clarence Russell, formerly superintendent of schools at Pittsfield, Mass., and now librarian with Sousa's band. Mr. Russell will explain to the audience the relative merits of the different instruments and will give the names of the same, as there are many instruments in Sousa's band that are not seen in ordinary bands.

This work of Mr. Russell's is a valuable educational feature.

Quarter Century Ago

From the old Sun:
"Like old wine, the age of the Middlesex North fair enhances its value. This, its 42d year, saw an opening day which drew from all standpointers any and all of its predecessors."
"It was an ideal fair day, though perhaps a trifle threatening to the unsophisticated city chap, and the farmers of Middlesex North, their families and friends, flocked out in goodly numbers to one of the finest attractions in the bright history of the old Fair grounds. There must have been over 5000 present yesterday afternoon, and were you in the grand stand you'd believe there must have been a bullet in every seat from the time that one met Sidney Dewart's gorgeous smile at the gate, entering, until he met it again upon making his exit, there was something interesting to be seen and enjoyed."
"The fair, which is also one of a long account of the old Middlesex North fair, an event that was a great annual attraction in years gone by. It was always held at the fair grounds, but the sale of the grounds and the purchase of the automobile age helped to discourage those who conducted the fair. But the Middlesex North society still lives and the Lowell public would be glad to see this annual fair revised as an annual attraction."

25 Years Wed

"Miss Anna Gertrude Gillespie and Mr. Owen A. Gilday, two young people having a large circle of friends in Centralville, were united in marriage at 10 o'clock Sunday morning at the chancel residence of St. Michael's church. Rev. James Gilday of Woburn, a brother of the bridegroom, officiated."

Heat Prostrations

About this time 25 years ago there was a hot spell during which there were several heat prostrations as indicated by the following from The Sun of that time:

"There were two more prostrations from the heat yesterday afternoon. In the afternoon a woman named James Couture, employed at the Parker block in Middle street, was prostrated and taken to St. John's hospital in the ambulance."

"Thomas Collins, a callman of the H. & S. company, was also overcome by the heat in the afternoon and carried home. He was not seriously affected."

"Following is the report of Mr. F. E. GALLI-CURCI'S WONDERFUL VOICE APPEALS TO EVERYBODY

One month after Galli-Curci had sung a recent number for the Victor, that company announced the sale of 100,000 copies of the record. What does this fact indicate? That the great soprano who will be heard in Lowell at the Memorial Auditorium on October 6 has a very vital message for thousands upon thousands of persons. In fact, the appeal for Galli-Curci is universal. Not only does she thrill the seasoned music-goer but she also moves the person who has never attended a concert before. Who can resist the thrill of the woodland bird, the ravishing note of the lark? To these the limpid quality of Galli-Curci's voice has been likened. It is the voice that weaves a magic spell, the voice that causes multitudes to listen breathlessly, to laugh or to weep, to shout with joy or to remain silent in tranquil enjoyment. It is the voice that is born but once in several decades. The tribute that was paid recently to Galli-Curci by a layman, a man who knows absolutely nothing about music, is indicative of the singer's universal appeal. "As a humble layman, I believe possible to influence the average person some idea of the beauty which is imprisoned in Galli-Curci's throat," writes

Bob Swayze in the Portland, Oregon, Daily Journal. "Why shouldn't language which adequately describes the loveliness of flowers, the stern beauty of mountains, the picturesque appeal of cataracts, the tenderness of love, the keenness of grief and the thrill of joy symbolize somewhat our appreciation of this vocal marvel? Nevertheless, it is well-nigh impossible to put in mere words an exact representation of Galli-Curci's genius. Only in relation to and comparison with other things may we approach her towering peak of supreme accomplishment. A heaven that is up and a hell that is down give us mental pictures of two extremes. We use the one as a symbol of perfect bliss, the other as an expression of naked misery. When we say a thing is heavenly we have crowded it with the superlative. Only by calling Galli-Curci's voice heavenly, and remembering that the other extreme conveys a contrary idea, we may approximate how she excels in the use of the vocal cords which are our constant mistletoe. So unusual and so unfamiliar in the sweetness with which she garbs more speech that we are perforce conjoined to believe that those linking notes are only temporary earthly pilgrims who come gloriously into our audible vision only to fade gradually later on as if they had gone to join the poet's consummate glimpse of a light that was never on land or sea."

THE GREAT AMERICAN HOME

"DRYS" MUZZLED ON REFERENDUM

BOSTON Sept. 16.—The "drys" of Massachusetts are wondering whether or not the "wets" have put one over on them.

Just now the "drys" are in the position of defenders in the State Volstead act, which was passed by the legislature last Spring and which will be referred to the voters in November. The "wets" have petitioned for a referendum and are seeking to have the people reject the law.

Now both the attackers and the defenders are given a certain number of days in which they may respectively present the secretary of state with arguments for and against the law concerned, which are to be mailed to the voters in connection with the usual notice of laws to be voted upon. But if the attackers of the legislature last Spring and which will be referred to the voters in November. The "wets" have petitioned for a referendum and are seeking to have the people reject the law.

A few days ago the forces of the "drys" prepared a very elaborate statement in defense of the law and took it to Secretary of State Cook. To their utter surprise this has just been returned to them with the notification that "no argument was filed by a majority of the first 10 signers of said petition within the time required by law. I have no authority to give publicity to the argument filed by you and it is hereby returned forthwith."

One of these men when questioned yesterday chuckled long and loudly, but professed ignorance of the whole procedure.

Arthur J. Davis, superintendent of the Antislavery league, however, was not so reticent and volunteered forth his opinion.

"It seems apparent," he said, "that the sole purpose of the petition for the referendum was to delay the enforcement of an act for whose defeat the petitioners had not one single pretext they cared to make public over their signatures."

ROCHE'S PACKARD LIVERY
Why not have the best? It does not cost any more. If you need an automobile for a wedding, christening or funeral call up Roche's Packard Livery and you will secure the services of a Twin-Six limousine, and your bill will not be higher than if you had used an ordinary car. The address is 359 Bridge street and the telephone number is 6356-W.

G. H. HANSON & CO.
There is one place in this city where one can purchase a first class horse and that is at G. H. Hanson & Co., Inc., 61 Rock street, where weekly auctions of good sound western horses are being conducted every Thursday forenoon. If you are in need of a horse go to Hanson's and you will buy it at your own price.

Fine Family of Seven Owe Their Good Health to Father John's Medicine

"We have a family of seven children and every one of them takes Father John's Medicine. We give it to them at the first sign of a cold, and in a couple of days they are entirely well again. Last year my little girl was dangerously ill with pneumonia and the doctors gave her up, but Father John's Medicine brought her back to health. We wouldn't be without it in the house."

(Signed) Mrs. J. Clark, 672 Haverhill street, Lawrence, Mass.

PRIMARY POST MORTEM STILL IN ORDER

Between primary and election time there is always a great deal of gossip relative to the success and failure of candidates in the primary. This year is no exception, and in fact it seems there has been more talk than ever before on the subject. One of the outstanding features of the nominations was the ability of Peter F. Sullivan, mayor of Worcester, to carry Lowell for the democratic nomination for governor against John F. Fitzgerald.

To carry the argument to a greater length, many have asked the question, "Is the election of the case?" He said that Miss Margaret Crowley, who lives in ward nine, is a cousin of Mayor Sullivan's and that she worked night and day obtaining votes for him. It is said that nearly every house in the ward was visited by Miss Crowley while she acted as the first service in the parts of the city in the interest of her relative.

MARKET MAN CHARGED WITH LARCENY

Mr. Solomon assures all creditors, through the police, who have deposits with this organization, that their accounts are fully protected against any deficit. LOCAL DELEGATES BACK FROM CONVENTION

With the exception of John Hanley, the Lowell delegates who attended the annual convention of the United Textile Workers of America, which was held in Fall River this week, returned to this city last night. Mr. Hanley remained in Fall River to attend a meeting of the executive board of the organization of which he is a member, and he is expected back this evening.

The delegates were as follows: Loomfitters, John Hanley and Joseph J. Jernery; Cotton Weavers, Thomas J. Reagan; Woolen Weavers, Mrs. Anne J. Reagan; Dresser Tenders, Daniel Hart. These delegates reported there was a large attendance at all the sessions, and in fact at some sessions the attendance was larger than at any convention for recent years. All were very much satisfied with the work performed at the convention and they are very much pleased with the honor conferred upon Lowell in the re-election of John Hanley to the executive board.

There is nothing new in the local strike situation, although it is believed there will be something doing next week. It was reported at headquarters that all the strikes in New Hampshire will be settled within a few days and if this occurs a great number of families who came here from Manchester and other New Hampshire cities will return to their homes. Mr. Stimpson, secretary of the strike committee, states that some of the non-organized employees of cotton mills in Manchester came to Lowell mills after the Manchester mills were shut down and secured employment as strikers at the Hamilton International Cotton and Massachusetts. As soon as these people return to their homes, he said, the local mill officials will clamor for help.

Agent Mitchell of the Hamilton was out of town today and could not be seen. Agent Mitchell of the Massachusetts was too busy to see the newspapermen, but Agent Billington of the International Cotton was seen and he said everything is running smoothly at his mill. He said some of the strikers have been at work for some time.

Local concerns which are more or less familiar with each other's prices, but were local and an out of city company hit the same figure on such a large amount the condition is a bit unusual.

The G. C. Prince company was the only bidder on supplies for the kindergarten building at city hall in bids submitted for various materials.

A carload of oats for use in the street department brought out two bidders, Lowell makes the Foster grain company, 53 cents per bushel and the W. M. Wilder company, 54 cents per bushel.

MAN FINED FOR RALLIED ALL DAY BATTLE LARCENY OF DOG IN SLIGO, IRE

Every dog has his day and Rover, a big St. Bernard dog, had his in district court today, although Rover was there, Douglas M. McIntyre, of Cambridge, fined $25 for stealing the dog from his owner, Samuel Taylor of Chelsea. The dog has since disappeared and neither man knows of its whereabouts. McIntyre appeared in his case.

Taylor, the owner of the dog, testified that Rover disappeared from his camp at Pinehurst in Billerica on the evening of June 7 and has not been seen since. He later found that the dog had been seen following McIntyre's home on that same day. When first questioned by Taylor about the matter, McIntyre said he knew nothing about the loss of the dog and helped in the search. He told the court that the dog was a large brown and white St. Bernard and was valued at $30.

On that day the dog was quite friendly with the defendant and had often gone to his camp, which is quite near that of Taylor's. McIntyre said that the dog followed him from Billerica to Arlington Heights and that he lost track of the animal there and could not find it. Taylor, who then investigated and told of talking with a Winchester policeman who remembered stopping a man who gave the name of McIntyre on the night in question, in Winchester square about 12:30 p. m., and that he had a dog on a leash with him at the time.

John J. Reagan, the Winchester police officer, gave corroborative evidence, as told by Taylor, of stopping McIntyre in Winchester on that night, and told of the dog on the leash.

In his defense McIntyre said that he had started for home on the dog for Rover. He tried to drive him home but was unsuccessful. He got into a jitney at one time but had to get out as the dog was still following. He then walked to Arlington Heights and the dog followed closely behind him. He denied that he had been drunk at the time. He said that this occurrence took place on either the 16th or 17th of May and not in June. When he got to Winchester he told of being stopped by the officer and said he was again stopped by McIntyre.

On that day the court decided that McIntyre had not acted naturally when he had not told Taylor, the owner of the dog, of the fact that Rover had followed him to Arlington on the night in question, and found him guilty.
